SYMRISE, INC.,

Third Party Plaintiff,

vs.

POLAROME MANUFACTURING CO., a/k/a Polarome International, Inc.,

Third Party Defendant.

No. C04-85-MWB

ORDER REGARDING DEFENDANTS' AND THIRD PARTY DEFENDANT'S MOTIONS FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT

I. INTRODUCTION AND BACKGROUND

On July 19, 2004, plaintiff Vicki Stillmunkes filed an Amended Complaint against defendants International Flavors & Fragrances, Inc. ("IFF"), Bush Boake Allen, Inc. ("BBA"), Givaudan Flavors Corp. ("Givaudan"), Firmenich Incorporated ("Firmenich"), Symrise, Inc. ("Symrise"), Dragoco, Inc. ("Dragoco"), and five "John Doe" Defendants. ¹ In her Amended Complaint, plaintiff Stillmunkes sets out claims against the six named defendants, all manufacturers, designers, or sellers of butter flavorings, for a design defect and a failure to warn regarding their butter flavorings containing diacetyl which she was exposed to during the course of her employment at a General Mills microwave popcorn plant in Iowa City, Iowa. ² Symrise, in turn, filed a third party complaint against Polarome International, Inc. ("Polarome"), a distributor of diacetyl, for contribution.

Defendant Symrise and third-party defendant Polarome have each filed motions for summary judgment. In addition, defendant Firmenich has filed a joinder with defendant Symrise's motion for summary judgment. Defendant Symrise's motion seeks dismissal of both claims against it on the following grounds: first, that plaintiff Stillmunkes's product defect claim fails as a matter of law because plaintiff Stillmunkes cannot offer any evidence of an alternative design; second, that plaintiff Stillmunkes's failure to warn claim fails because Symrise did not know or could reasonably have known that diacetyl could cause bronchiolitis obliterans; third, that plaintiff Stillmunkes's failure to warn claim fails even if Symrise did know that diacetyl could cause bronchiolitis obliterans because Symrise did not have a duty to warn plaintiff Stillmunkes since her employer was a sophisticated user; and, finally, that plaintiff Stillmunkes's failure to warn claim fails because Symrise's failure to warn was not the proximate cause of plaintiff Stillmunkes's injuries. In its joinder of defendant Symrise's motion for summary judgment, defendant Firmenich argues that plaintiff Stillmunkes's failure to warn claim against it fails because Firmenich did not know, or have any reason to know, of the alleged health hazards of diacetyl during the time that plaintiff Stillmunkes was exposed to butter flavorings containing diacetyl.

¹Symrise was created from a merger involving Dragoco and another entity. For the purposes of this order the court will refer to them collectively as Symrise.

²Defendants IFF and and BBA were dismissed from the case on June 21, 2005, by joint stipulation of the parties.

Third-party defendant Polarome adopts in its summary judgment motion all of the arguments put forth by defendant Symrise in its motion for summary judgment and argues that because summary judgment should be granted in favor of defendant Symrise, defendant Symrise's claim against Polarome for contribution is moot. Third-party defendant Polarome also argues that it did not have a duty to warn defendant Symrise regarding diacetyl because Symrise is a sophisticated user. Finally, third-party defendant Polarome asserts that it is entitled to summary judgment on defendant Symrise's contribution claim because defendant Symrise has failed to produce any evidence that Polarome failed to satisfy or comply with industry standards associated with such a distributor.

II. LEGAL ANALYSIS

Because the court wishes to apprise the parties of the disposition of the pending motions for summary judgment so that they may continue their pretrial preparations, the circumstances necessitate that a "summary" summary judgment ruling must suffice.

As this court has often explained, applying the standards of Rule 56 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, the trial judge's function at the summary judgment stage of the proceedings is not to weigh the evidence and determine the truth of the matter, but to determine whether there are genuine issues for trial. Quick v. Donaldson Co., 90 F.3d 1372, 1376-77 (8th Cir. 1996); Johnson v. Enron Corp., 906 F.2d 1234, 1237 (8th Cir. 1990). The parties are to be complimented on their thorough and exhaustive briefing of the issues involved in this litigation. Upon review of the record, however, the court is compelled to conclude that genuine issues of material fact preclude summary judgment in defendant Symrise, defendant Firmenich, or third-party defendant Polarome's favor on any of the issues or claims on which defendant Symrise, defendant Firmenich, and third-party defendant Polarome seek such judgment.

Therefore, defendant Symrise and third-party defendant Polarome's respective motions for summary judgement, as well as defendant Firmenich's joinder of defendant Symrise's motion, are each denied.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

DATED this 27th day of March, 2008.

3 THE COURT: Okay. Good morning. We have the Rule

4 50 motion. I've read it. Anything you want to add to it?

MR. DONOVAN: Your Honor, we have made the basic 6 arguments in the document. I'm glad to restate those, to 7 emphasize a few of them, or to respond to any questions Your Honor may have regarding the arguments. 8

9 THE COURT: Well, it's like we're trying two different cases, the one I see and the one you see, so no point adding anything for my benefit. I find the motion

MR. DONOVAN: Your Honor, do you want me for the record --14

THE COURT: It's not the case I'm trying. Might be 15

16 a canned brief for some other case but not the case I'm trying, so motion's denied. Anything else?

18 MR. DONOVAN: No, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Now, on the jury instructions issue, I

20 am not reinstructing, so to the extent you're asking me -

21 I'm not sure what you're asking me to reinstruct on. I've never reinstructed on a case. I've tried hundreds of cases this way. Never once I've been asked to reinstruct, and if I had been asked to reinstruct in every case, I would have said no. There's absolutely no reason to reinstruct.

2

2 wolf. You're saying if I give one supplemental instruction that somehow you're going to be prejudiced just like you'd 3

Again, you're like the -- you're the team who cried

4 be prejudiced if you hadn't have done cumulative testimony

5 on your witness yesterday, just like -- you know, everything that doesn't go your way, it's a scream of prejudice. And 6 so you really are like the team who cried wolf. That is in 8 my opinion about as ludicrous an objection as I've seen in 9 15 years.

Now, if there are other things that need further supplemental instruction, I'm open to that. I'm open to that. I'm not -- but to say that -- I don't -- and I didn't understand even what your objection was to my supplemental instruction. It's not an incorrect statement of the law.

Or are you claiming that it is? 15

MR. DONOVAN: Your Honor, our position was that the 16

instruction that was given is consistent with the standard instruction in the law and does adequately cover the fact of what a manufacturer knew or should have known and there has been evidence on that. And in addition, in the wake of the Wright decision, it is not clear that this remains a part of 21 kind of the formulation of what is considered in determining design defect and failure to warn. We felt the instruction as given adequately met both what the parties had requested initially and what the standard instruction included, and 1 that was the main basis for the objection to it.

THE COURT: Well, are you saying it's a wrong

statement of the law?

4 MR. DONOVAN: I think it's -- I think it's somewhat unclear in the wake of Wright whether there's been any case law addressing that. It was certainly the statement that was formulated in Olson as Your Honor noted and has been applied by Your Honor I know in pre-Wright cases. So that was the basis. And we also objected just on the fact that it tends to bring to the front at the end one aspect of this broader determination as opposed to, you know, other aspects that are significant in the jury's consideration. So in that sense we thought it unduly emphasized one piece of 14 this.

15 THE COURT: Well, then I can put some language in there you should take this along with all of the 17 instructions and treat them as a whole language. Doesn't that obviate any concern you would have about that it calls 19 special attention to it?

20 MR. DONOVAN: I think, Your Honor --

THE COURT: What do you want me to do? Read them 21 22 all over again?

23 MR. DONOVAN: Well, we did -- we filed, Your Honor, a short -- in response to your request a document with briefing on the two proposed supplemental instructions that Your Honor had raised last week. And we also proposed several clarifying instructions additionally. We believe that it would make the most sense to recharge on this. We understand that that's a significant amount of time, but we feel it brings a couple of different aspects out of -- kind

6 of pulls them out and puts them in front of the jury at the 7 end of the case when it's --

8 THE COURT: Well, if you tell them you should treat 9 any supplement -- I told them at the beginning that there might be supplemental instructions. So if you tell them that you should just treat the supplemental instructions as they do all the other instructions and treat them as a whole, how can there possibly -- I -- do you have any evidence that there would be any prejudice?

15 MR. DONOVAN: No, Your Honor.

16 THE COURT: Well, what's your basis for the argument that there would be prejudice? 17 18 MR. DONOVAN: Just the primacy of the one statement 19 versus the distant instruction prior to that and the fact 20 that Your Honor is focusing on those.

21 THE COURT: Okay. Well, I told everybody and I told the jury that I was going to read their instruction on duty on deliberations and I save that for last until after 23 24 closing argument. Is that prejudicial?

MR. DONOVAN: No, Your Honor, I don't believe so,

- 9 THE COURT: Okay.
- MR. MCCLAIN:
- 11 Q. 2212 shows that in 1992, the first full year that Ron was
- 2 in the mixing room, the overwhelming quantity of materials
- 13 used were Fries and Fries or Tastemaker, Givaudan. Is that
- 14 consistent with your recollection?
- 15 A. Yes, it is.

- 16 Q. And likewise this is our stipulation number 25. Your
- 17 Honor, after '93, this is the amount that is stipulated that
- 18 went directly to Sioux City from Givaudan. Roughly 50,000
- 19 pounds every, a little more than that. That was the bulk of
- 20 the butter flavor you were buying.
- 21 A. I can't -- I've never seen this document. I can't speak

MR. MCCLAIN: No objection to that, Your Honor,

- 1 You can see here this relates to diacetyl. Would you go over
 - 2 to that hazards section? Did Givaudan in any of this time
 - 3 period or even through today, did they -- have they ever told
 - 4 you that by inhalation diacetyl is harmful and that it's
 - 5 capable of producing systemic toxicity? Did you ever have any
 - 6 indication from them about these facts, Mr. Hoffman?
 - A. No. sir.
 - 8 Q. Is that something you would have liked to have known?
 - 9 A. Yes.
 - Q. Do you know or did you have any indication in 1991 that
 - 11 Givaudan was warned by its supplier of diacetyl that you had
 - 12 to use air supplied respirators?
 - 13 A. No.
 - 14 Q. These little cartridge deals that you had the guys
 - 15 wearing in the mixing room were not to protect against the
 - 16 breathing vapors of diacetyl, were they? They were organic
 - 17 cartridges.
 - 18 A. Organic and particulate cartridges.
 - 19 Q. Right. Now you've got your workers in scuba gear
 - 20 essentially; right?
 - 21 A. Supplied air, yes.
 - 22 Q. Scott, will you show that clip? Has Mr. Pagliaro seen
 - 23 this? Well, hang on for a minute because I want -- is there a
 - 24 way to show him first?
 - 25 THE COURT: Yeah, there is.
 - MR. MCCLAIN: Okay. Go ahead and show Mr. Pagliaro
 - that and make sure that . . .
 - What's the exhibit number for this? 2141. Mr. --
 - 4 THE COURT: Well, what'd you all decide?
 - 5 MR. MCCLAIN: There's no objection to it.
 - 6 THE COURT: Okay.
 - 7 MR. PAGLIARO: As long as the witness --

 - 15 THE COURT: Well --
 - 16 MR. MCCLAIN: Let me just ask.
 - 17 THE COURT: I don't know what you mean by
 - 18 authenticate as long as he says -- he can -- no. It's
 - 19 not -- he doesn't have to authenticate him.
 - MR. MCCLAIN: It's him in the video, Your Honor.
 - 21 THE COURT: That's a different issue.
 - MR. MCCLAIN: It's the witness in the video.
 - 23 THE COURT: Well, okay. But all he has to do is be
 - 24 able to say what similarities, if any, it has to the closed
 - 25 air system so . .

11 A. Yes I'll agree with that.
12 Q. Okay. Now, I just wanted to clarify all that so that we 13 know that you had a very strong relationship with Givaudan, 14 Tastemaker. You were in constant communication with them.
15 Did you ever hear from Givaudan in those years when they were 16 selling you so much butter flavor that workers in their own 17 plant were being diagnosed with bronchiolitis obliterans?
18 A. No, sir.
19 Q. Did you know that from 1995 -- 1985 they knew that 20 breathing diacetyl was harmful?
21 A. No, sir.
22 Q. Or it would cause systemic toxicity.

Mr. Hoffman's never seen anything like this from Givaudan?

Mr. Dale Hartshorn AMERICAN POPCORN COMPANY 4332 Grant Ave. Sioux City, IA 51102

Dear Mr. Hartshorn:

This letter is in response to your request for information on Fries & Fries flavor components diacetyl and delta decalactone and their regulatory status in West Germany.

Diacetyl is a ketone derived from fractional distillation of a fermentation product of glucose. It is a natural substance which has been found to occur in a variety of fruits, vegetables, breads, meats and dairy products. Concentrations of 0.3-2.2 ppm have been detected in butter, 4.0-5.2 ppm in wine and 15 ppm in cognac and whiskey.

In the United States, diacetyl has been deemed to be Generally Recognized as Safe (GRAS) as indicated by its designated FEMA #, 2370. It is approved for food use as defined in 21 CFR 184.1278 and meets FCC specifications. It has been given Council of Europe #752.

Delta decalactone is a nature identical cyclic ester. It has been identified as a natural constituent of coconuts, dairy products, animal fats, tea and rum. Butterfat contains about 9 ppm of the lactone and up to 7000 ppm has been detected in peaches.

Delta decalactone is approved for food use in the United States according to 21 CFR 172.515 and meets FCC specifications. It is recognized as GRAS by its FEMA #2361 and has also been assigned #621 by the Council of Europe.

With regard to the legal status of these chemicals, under West German law flavor substances are regulated according to their classification as either natural, nature identical or artificial. Thus, if a flavor is natural or nature identical, it is not regarded or regulated as a food additive per se. Such substances may be used without restriction as long as they are used in accordance with good manufacturing practices and do not appear on a "negative" or restricted list of natural or nature identical flavor substances. Neither diacetyl nor delta decalactone are found on such a list.

Considering the GRAS status of these substances according to United States regulations and the classification of these materials as being either natural or nature identical, both diacetyl and delta decalactone comply with the regulations for use as flavoring components in West
